

PATRON FOUR COMMAND SERVICES DEPARTMENT AFTERNOON OFF LTJG TAYLOR COMBS

The enlisted Sailors attached to Patrol Squadron FOUR's (VP-4) Command Services Department (CSD) surprised today. In appreciation for their hard work and dedication over the first month of deployment, AM2 Joanne Pack, QM3 Jordan Lockhart, AOAA Trista Torres, AN Daniel Havea, AN Danita Ware, and MCSA Devin Menhardt were temporarily relieved of their duties this afternoon. The Junior Officers of CSD, LT Ever Garay, LTJG Mike Hill, LTJG Mike Rueda, and LTJG Taylor Combs voluntarily assumed the afternoon geedunk shift.

Geedunk, military slang for a convenience store, helps to keep squadron morale high by providing various snacks, drinks, and pleasantries to the hard working members of VP-4. A properly stocked and friendly geedunk is paramount to keeping sailors' stomachs satisfied and offers a pleasant change of atmosphere from work centers.

Understanding the importance of a high speed geedunk, the CSD warriors have spent numerous hours running to the commissary for supplies, feverishly stocking shelves, and maintaining a proper inventory of goods. The hard work has not gone unnoticed, and so the crew was rewarded with the afternoon off.

Upon release for the day, the CSD duty section met for a pizza lunch with the CSD Department Head, LCDR Davis.
